

Community Gardening at Spaces of Opportunity

Community gardening is our community in action at Spaces. At Spaces, community members plant, grow and harvest produce for their own use, or to share with others. Regular events are held at the community garden to celebrate food, diverse culture, and community.

A food desert is an urban area where affordable, fresh produce is not easily accessible. Spaces of Opportunity is addressing the south Phoenix food desert by providing a place for families, local farmers and the community to grow food.

If you are interested in starting your own garden at Spaces, please contact Darren Chapman at dchapman836@msn.com or Bruce Babcock at bruce.babcock@tigermountainfoundation.org.
